

Hiroaki TODO is a professor at Faculty of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences, Josai University. After receiving Ph.D. from Meijo University, he started to work at Josai University from 2004. His current research interest is development of a novel transdermal drug delivery system and establishment of safety evaluation method after dermal exposure of chemicals. During his research carrier, he published over 180 original airticles. He got several scientific awards such as LRI (Long-range Research Initiative) Award from Japan Chemical Industry Association and Tanabe Award from the Japanese society of Toxicology. He was Vice President of the Japanese Society for Alternative to Animal Experiments (JSAAE) from 2019 to 2023. In addition, he is working at Academy of Pharmaceutical Science and Technology, Japan (APSTJ), The Japan Society of Drug Delivery System (DDS), Japanese Cosmetic Science Society, The Japanese Society of Toxicology, etc. He is also working as an editorial board member of Frontiers in Toxicology (in vitro toxicology) and Chemical and Pharmaceutical Bulletin (Pharmaceutical Society of Japan).

